

Travel, Teach and Learn

If you love to travel, teach, and get immersed in different cultures then you can try volunteering to do just that. The world is getting smaller thanks to the Internet. But sometimes it is not enough to read and hear stories about far-away lands. Being there makes a lot of difference.

Cultural exchange is gaining a foothold among the citizens of the world simply because it is one of the most fulfilling things to do in the jet age where everywhere is not that far away. Teaching language to locals is never a one way pursuit. You end up learning their language too and this makes the adventure worth it.

You do not have to spend a penny in getting to the place where you want to go. In exchange you teach them what you know. It is simply a trip that goes beyond having fun. It is a trip that can change the way you look at the world. Here are some organization that will love to help you volunteer to travel and teach.

Center for Cultural Exchange

The Center for Cultural Exchange with their Greenheart travel program allows people to volunteer to travel and teach around the world. You can have the option where you want to go, what you want to do, and how long you plan to stay in that country. Greenheart travel is interested in fruitful cultural exchanges and is driven by the green earth advocacy. It believes that when people from different cultures open up to each other, they can have a better grasp of the importance of preserving humanity and the planet for the many generations to come.

What is unique about CCE and Greenheart travel is its simplistic approach in giving opportunities to people who are willing and able to go around the world and impart something in return to the countries they visit.

GeoVisions

GeoVisions believe that you can go around the world for free and impart knowledge along the way. The good thing is that you are assured of a place to stay and provided with a stipend for your meals. In exchange you can choose to volunteer to teach baseball and English to small kids, serve in a medical clinic in Africa, or even serve as a summer camp counselor in Italy. The memories you can get out of these destinations are priceless and can give you a better perspective of being a citizen of the Earth.

Travelling and teaching around the world is a unique experience. The spontaneous adventure and the random people that you meet every day provides you with a peek of what the world is really like, not just what you thought it is.

GoAbroad

GoAbroad is an online company that can provide you with the chance to travel the world and teach something that you know intimately about like the English language. Part of its network is the International Student Volunteers that gives students from around the world the chance to launch into an international adventure while volunteering to teach communities from different countries. GoAbroad also offers TEFL/TESOL certifications to people who would love to be equipped to teach proficiently wherever they want. GoAbroad does not only provide the training and certification but also ensures your safety and insurance concerns once you sign up with them. If you are keen to travel, teach, pursue new adventures, and discover places and culture, there is no other way to do it better than to volunteer to international programs offered by trusted organizations. You are not only blindly pursuing fun and empty memories but also building bridges to other cultures. Experience what the world has to offer and grow as a person in the process.

Date: 2012-09-03

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-travel-to-teach-languages-opening-gates-article1902>