

The Young Independent Traveler Trends

Various studies have confirmed that travel is an increasingly important aspiration for young people around the world. They are exploring further, spending more, and demanding new types of experiences to fulfill their desire to learn about and discover the world around them. Youth travel is thus of great interest of all the stake holders. The global movement of young travellers generates exceptional financial, EUR 109 billion annually...

Date: 2008-02-25

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-the-young-independent-traveler-trends-article441>